House construction picks up pace at R.T. Nagar

Over 100 site owners apply to MUDA for house plan approvals; process on to get water and power supply

Mysuru, May 12 (RK&BCT)- Only a few cities in India have the ability to attract and encourage people to settle down permanently. Mysuru is one such city which has inspired visitors to relocate themselves here.

Popularly recognised for its excellent weather and close proximity to cities like Bengaluru, hill stations like Kodagu and Chikkamagaluru, and forests like Bandipur and Nagarahole National Parks, Mysuru is one of the fastest growing cities in India and aiding the growth is layouts like Rabindranath Tagore Nagar (R.T. Nagar) that is growing rapidly, thanks to the meticulous layout planning by Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA).

Already a few people have built houses at R.T. Nagar and MUDA is regularly receiving applications for house plan approvals and there are over 100 applications pending for approvals.

The R.T. Nagar Layout was formed along the Ring Road adjoining Kanakadasanagar and University layouts in a vast area of 219 acres. The land acquisition process was completed in 1993-1994 and the sites were distributed in June 2017. The layout comes under different survey numbers of Kergalli and 2,472 sites of various dimensions have been formed.

The R.T. Nagar Layout is a well-planned layout and has been designed according to international standards with wide roads, good drainage and electricity supply facilities, spaces for greenery and civic amenities. The layout was designed in such a way that even if Mysuru grew in leaps and bounds, the R.T. Nagar Layout would never be a haphazardly developed area. The layout has designated parks, open spaces that can be converted into green areas and has a 100 feet road that has access to Ring Road.

For the water facilities, one over-head tank and one ground-level tank that can hold up to 10 lakh litres of water each have been constructed. Also a giant tank has been constructed under NURM project that can store up to 50 lakh litres. Not a single road in the layout is less than 40 ft and most of the roads are 80 to 100 ft wide.

Already over 20 houses have been built and occupied by residents and many more are under construction. A majority of site owners are waiting for water and electricity connections to the layout for which the pipelines have already been laid. While the tenders have already been called for power connection from Karnataka Power Transmission Corporation (KPTCL) underground pipelines have been laid to carry sewage.

Mysore Varsity cuts 50% fee for foreign students

Move to attract more foreign students as numbers dwindle

Mysuru, May 12 (MTY&NNN)- University of Mysore, which topped the list of preferred Universities for foreign students at one time, today is sadly showing a decline in admissions. The reason for this is attributed to not only demonetisation but also a steep hike in fee for foreign students.

Realising that this downward trend is not a good sign, the University now has decided to attract more foreign students by offering 50 per cent cut in fees.

It was not too far ago that University of Mysore, one of the premier State Universities in the country, was most sought after by the foreign students. Even a few years ago there were nearly 2,000 foreign students studying in various colleges including Manasagangothri. But due to demonetisation and sudden hike in fees, the number came down. Hence, this year the Academic Council decided to halve the admission fees by 50 per cent to entice a lot more foreign students.

There are 65 Post Graduate Departments in University of Mysore, offering 78 courses and 18 under graduate courses. However, in private Universities there are just about four to five PG Departments. As University of Mysore has 65 departments and also attractive courses on offer with beautiful ambience, the University is the most favoured destination for foreign students.

But in the last two years the number of foreign students have stood at just 750 and hence there is a shortfall of about 1000 to 1500. In the light of this decline it is decided to reduce the fees to attract more foreign students.

In the last three years the fees for the foreign students was more than Rs.60,000 and it was fixed on par with a few private Universities. The Indian Council for Cultural Relations (ICCR) which allots students to Universities was allotting less number of students to University of Mysore. This deterred the University from increasing its revenue.

In the last Academic Council meeting held, it was decided to reduce the fees by 50 per cent. . This move has also been brought to the notice of ICCR and hence more students are expected from this academic year itself. The fee for the foreign students from this year is just Rs.30,000 per year.

Registrar reacts

"It is common to see foreign students flocking to University of Mysore every year. However, citing that they have to pay the same fees as that of private Universities and due to the effect of demonetisation, the strength of foreign students had come down in the last three years.

"Seeing this trend VC Prof. G. Hemantha Kumar proposed a reduction in fees. There were 2,000 students at one time and now it has come down to 750. Even the ICCR had complained that the fee was excessive," said Prof. Lingaraja Gandhi, Registrar, University of Mysore.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

Observers have pointed out how the term "secularism" has been missing from the speeches of various Congress party leaders this election season. West Bengal Chief Minister Mamata Banerjee, who has made no bones about her national ambitions, has obviously sensed an opportunity in that, if the number of times she has emphasised her party's "secular" credentials in her rallies is anything to go by. While speaking at a campaign meet in West Bengal's Bishnupur Lok Sabha Constituency earlier this week, she made the point once again. The T, M and C in her party's name stood for "Temple, Mosque and Church," she said.

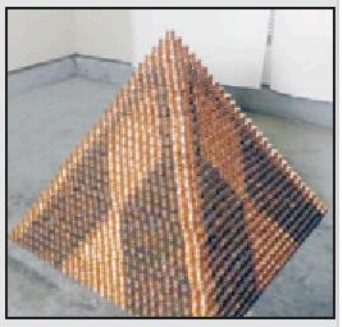
Octopus gets sweet revenge on woman trying to eat it

Beijing: A Chinese woman, who was live-streaming herself trying to eat a live octopus ended up screaming in pain after the octopus attached itself to her face with its suckers. The young woman was allegedly planning to eat the live octopus on camera. Although the video begins with the creature already stuck to her face, she was heard calmly telling her fans "look how hard it's sucking" before realising that she can't actually remove it without pulling on it really hard.

At one point, it looked like her left cheek might come off as she struggles to detach the octopus while screaming "painful" and "I can't remove it".

Man's quest to build world's largest coin pyramid



Arizona: A middle-aged man from Tolleson, Arizona, embarked on a journey to build the world's largest pyramid of stacked pennies three years ago and he only had a few thousand coins and a dream at the time. But today, he's inching closer to finally accomplishing his goal.

The man, Corey Nielsen, had built smaller penny pyramids before, but this was a much bigger project, one that would take daily work over multiple years to complete. Well, after almost three years of penny stacking, he's nearly there. Nielsen's soon-to-be record-breaking coin pyramid currently consists of 938,322 neatly stacked pennies. That's nearly $10,000 worth of humble pennies, with a combined weight of 5,792 pounds. The patient builder has already received the last 100,000 pennies required to break the Guinness record, and hopes to stack them all onto his giant pyramid by the end of this month.

Augment Chennai Central-Mysuru Shatabdi Express with extra First Class AC Executive Chair Car

Sir,

The train number 12007/12008 Chennai-Mysuru Shatabdi Express, operating via Bengaluru and Katpadi, has gained a very high patronage. The operation of this train is very beneficial especially on weekends, festivals and other regular days.

The down train travels to Chennai Central from Mysuru with a stop at Bengaluru conveniently at 16.25 hours. Thus, such a convenient departure from Mysuru has benefited many office-goers, weekend travellers, IT professionals, business travellers, families and other regular commuters.

The presence of the availability of one First Class AC Executive Chair Car (1A/EC) that is coach E1 is very welcome. The 1A/EC coach is preferred by majority of passengers owing to the comfort of seating arrangement with 2x2 rows of airline type wider seats with spacious leg room.

However, sometimes on weekends and festival holidays, the wait-list position from Mysuru side runs to a high number depriving a confirmed reservation for this 1A/EC coach. Also, since the introduction of first 1A/EC coach since this train's inception, passengers haven't witnessed any significant trials by the Railway authorities to augment any additional 1A/EC coach.

The positive move of augmentation of an additional 1A/EC coach as suggested and if implemented will help ensure right distribution of wait-listed passengers judiciously and further help to get a confirmed seat on-board 1A class of the Shatabdi Express.

Hence, the Railway authorities at Mysuru Division are requested to urgently consider augmentation of extra First Class AC Executive Chair Car (E2) to the train number 12007/12008 Chennai Central-Mysuru Shatabdi Express.

Alleged land grab case against former CM Siddharamaiah

Case shifted to Special Court for Peoples Representatives

Mysuru, May 12 (UNI)- The case against former Karnataka Chief Minister Siddharamaiah, on alleged illegal construction of house and misuse of Government Office has been shifted to the Special Court for People's Representatives, Bengaluru, Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate Yashwanth Kumar said in his order.

The Lakshmipuram Police had registered an FIR against Siddharamaiah and Mysuru Urban Development Authority (MUDA) former chiefs C. Basavegowda and D. Dhruvakumar and MUDA Commissioner P.S. Kantharaj in connection with a land grabbing case.

Former CM Siddharamaiah

Earlier, the Police had submitted a 'B' Report in the case. But, later, they registered an FIR under IPC Sections 120B, 197, 166, 167, 169, 200, 417, 409, 420 and 468 following the directions by the Principal Senior Civil Judge.

The Court had directed the Police to register an FIR, based on a petition filed by advocate N. Gangaraju to the Governor in May 2018, seeking sanction to prosecute Siddharamaiah. The Governor's Office cleared it, saying that permission was not required for prosecution. Gangaraju alleged that Siddharamaiah had used his influence to secure all clearances necessary for the piece of land, in violation of MUDA rules.

The City Improvement Trust Board (CITB), the predecessor of MUDA, had acquired 535 acres of land under Hinkal GP to develop Vijayanagar II Stage in 1981. In 1997, after the completion of the site distribution process, the then GP President Papanna, his relatives Sakamma, Annaiah and Sunanda had applied to MUDA to denotify 30 guntas of their land.

Accordingly, MUDA denotified the land. The process was completed within 20 days when Basavegowda was MUDA Chairman. Later, Siddharamaiah, when he was the Deputy CM in J.H. Patel Government, purchased 10 guntas of the land belonging to Annaiah and constructed a house on a land measuring 120X75 ft in dimension.

The MUDA issued a No Objection Certificate and also approved the house plan and in 2013, Siddharamaiah sold the house.

On May 10, Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate Yashwanth Kumar, based on a submission made by the advocate of the complainant, transferred the case to the Special Court in Bengaluru. "In view of the same, the entire records of this case shall be forwarded to the Special Court in Bengaluru dealing with the matters pertaining to the people's representatives forthwith. The complainant is directed to appear before the said court on June 10, 2019," the order said.

Kumaraswamy who is taking rest along with his family at 'The Ibnii' resort on the outskirts of Madikeri on Madikeri-Mysuru road chose not to come out of the resort on the second day of his stay on Saturday.

Property owner opposes eviction drive at Kurubarahalli

MCC Officials return empty hand

Mysuru, May 12 (RK&SR)- A team of Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) Zone-9 officials, who went to clear an illegal construction on a road, returned empty-handed without eviction following stiff resistance from the owner and relatives at Kurubarahalli in city yesterday morning.

A complaint was filed by Kurubarahalli J. Prakash with the MCC against the owner of house number 77/1, 3rd Cross in the area for allegedly constructing a house illegally on the road. He urged MCC to clear the encroachment as it is blocking traffic.

MCC officials led by Zonal Officer Muralidhar and others went to the spot along with the Police to clear the encroachment. A wordy duel ensued between the officials and the house owner leading to tension for sometime.

House owner Puttaraju and his relatives denied the encroachment allegation and produced all supporting documents about their site ownership rights including the details of tax-paid receipts, khata and other details. Hence the officials returned without carrying out the eviction drive.

Speaking to Star of Mysore, Muralidhar said that the site was allotted to the owner by the then City Improvement Trust Board (CITB). "However, we will check the title deed and other details of the site ownership rights with MUDA and we will clear the encroachments if the house owner has encroached the road", he said.

Meanwhile, in a press statement, M.N. Satish, brother of Puttaraju, has stated that the property is owned by them and they were rebuilding the cowshed which had collapsed during recent rains.

He alleged that some vested interests had filed a false complaint by producing fake records.

He has also stated that they had sought the blue-print and other documents from MUDA but the MUDA officials had failed to give them the documents as according to them, the documents were not available and hence they had collected a written reply copy from MUDA.

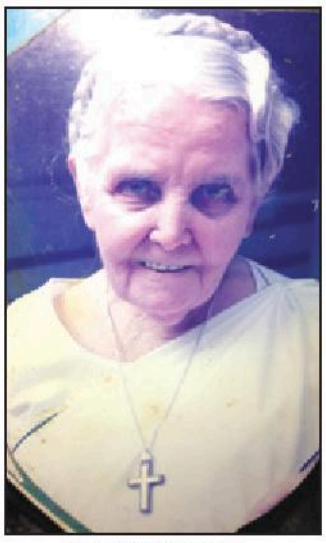
Remembering Hilda Baker of city's Mission Hospital today, International Nurses Day

Florence Nightingale



Sister Hilda Baker

A view of Mission Hospital building in Mysuru now.

"Devotion to Duty is not a Sacrifice, it is a Justification of your Existence in this Life."

Mother's Day is celebrated on various days in many parts of the world, most commonly in March or May. In most countries including India, Mother's Day is celebrated every year on the second Sunday of May.

This year, Mother's Day coincides with International Nurses Day, which is also celebrated each year on May 12 to mark the birth anniversary of Florence Nightingale (12 May 1820 - 13 August 1910), a legend in her own lifetime, who was known as the 'Lady with the Lamp,' and the contributions of nurses to society.

Who can 'Mother' a patient better than a dedicated 'Nurse' ? asks by Dr. Veena Bharathi, an alumnus of Mysore Medical College, in this article published to commemorate Mysuru's own legendary Hilda Baker, the Florence Nightingale from England who served in Mission Hospital. —Ed

By Dr. Veena Bharathi

On May 9, 2000, when Sister Hilda Baker, who had served the Mission Hospital, Mysore, for nearly three decades, as the Nursing Superintendent, died at the ripe age of 85 years, it was as though the entire Mysore was weeping, when thunder, lightning and continuous downpour coincided with the funeral procession of Sister Hilda, with people from all walks of life paying a tribute.

"How you live your life is important and not your religion!" was the words which Sister Hilda used to tell the other Sisters, during the CSI (Church of South India) biennial retreats !

Hilda Baker's life somehow is associated with the two World Wars. She was born in 1914 at Wakefield in England, during the time of First World War. By the time of World War-II in 1939, Hilda Baker had already got qualified as a nurse, and was working at an Infirmary in Leeds and later on, at several Hospitals in England. Though Hilda's father had wanted her to become a doctor or a teacher, the young Hilda was passionate about the Nursing Profession and had made up her mind to serve the people of an under-privileged country !

"During the World War-II, when Sister Hilda Baker was working at a major hospital in England, whenever there was a missile alarm, she would rush to carry bunches of new-born babies and would go to the underground shelter, praying for their safety!" Allen Crammer, who hailed from Southampton and who had been Sister Hilda's associate and caretaker in Mysore, had told this writer during an interview in 2000.

As per the "Methodist Missionary Society's" norms, Sister Hilda Baker, who was given the choice of either serving at South Africa or India, chose India as her destination. Hilda Baker started her journey to India in 1947, just before India's Independence and Partition.

Dr. Stephen (who was the Medical Superintendent of the Mission Hospital, Mysore, from 1936 to 1967) had told this writer: "Sister Hilda Baker, after working for about four years at the Mission Hospital, Hassan, joined the Mission Hospital (The Holdsworth Memorial Hospital), Mysore, as Superintendent and Principal of School of Nursing." According to Dr. Stephen, Sister Hilda Baker used to dedicatedly teach the Nursing students, take them around the wards and discuss with the young nurses, what best they could do to reduce the misery of the patients. Though Hilda Baker herself was known for her discipline and rectitude, she never used to shout at any of the staff or patients and their relatives. Instead, Hilda Baker herself had got reprimanded by Dr. Stephen when she had silently assembled the night duty nurses at 1.30 am for an early morning prayer ! Dr. Stephen had in fact warned Hilda Baker: "Hilda, this is no time for prayer, the nurses do need some breathing space, they are not as energetic as you are!"

Sister Hilda Baker joined the Sisters' Order in 1955, through CSI (Church of South India), Bangalore. To the meetings and the retreats, Hilda Baker would take her 'glove puppet doll', which she had named 'Jimmy.' She used to wear the glove puppet on her right wrist and palm and would speak her mind through finger movements and divine, soulful voice !

While working at 'The Holdsworth Memorial Hospital', Mysore, Sister Hilda Baker, quite often got to interact with the members of the Royal Family of Mysore, who used to come for routine medical check ups. Thus, Sister Hilda developed a great rapport with the first family of Mysore. The members of the Royal Family often used to go hunting at H.D. Kote's thick forests. On one such occasion, when Sister Hilda accompanied the members of the Mysore Royal Family to H.D. Kote, her vision and mission took a new dimension. She saw the poor villagers of H.D. Kote, with substandard living conditions and decided to take up 'The Village Welfare Work' at Jakkahalli, Dasahalli and Dattahalla villages of H.D. Kote.

Soon after her retirement in 1970 at the Mission Hospital, Mysore, Hilda Baker started commuting from Mysore to H.D. Kote. She also purchased eight acres of land in H.D. Kote and started a crèche for the children of village women, who worked in the fields.

Hilda Baker was appointed as the Chairperson of "Water Development and Adult Literacy Project" of Dattahalla village of H.D. Kote, for which funds were provided by 'The World Vision International of California' and from the money sanctioned for the same under the Central Government's Five Year Plan.

Pothan of CSI, Bangalore, had recalled in 2000: "Sister Hilda Baker always insisted on conducting 'adult literacy classes' in Kannada language. She herself was very proficient in Kannada. Sister Hilda was in fact a true Indian in her spirit of service to people and also in her dress code. Most of the time, she would wear a white sari with a small blue border, till she became wheel chair bound in 1990, due to a fracture of hip bone and knee joint problem."

Sister Hilda had also nursed a child by name Rathni, who had got afflicted with multiple health problems, by spending money from her own pocket, to get Rathni the best of the treatment. In fact, the doctors had told her: "Sister Hilda, are you mad? This child Rathni is going to die any moment!" But Hilda Baker refused to give up nursing and spending on Rathni and today at 62 years, Rathni is still alive !

Sister Hilda was awarded the prestigious 'Jean Harris Award' by the Rotary International, Illinois, USA. She was also awarded "The International Woman of the Year" award in the year 2000, which was commemorated by "The International Biographical Centre," Cambridge.

In the year 1997, "a Golden Jubilee celebration" was conducted at the Jaganmohan Palace in Mysore to honour Hilda Baker's fifty years of selfless service in the field of nursing and social welfare activities [she had received messages of congratulation from dignitaries like Karnataka Governor Khurshed Alam Khan, Chief Minister J.H. Patel and Prime Minister Atal Behari Vajpayee, at that time].

Says Sister Sujatha of CSI, Mysore: "Ever since my boarding school days, within the premises of the CSI, Mysore, I had watched the dedicated, spirited work by Sister Hilda Baker. I have also worked with her from 1991 to 2000 (till her demise) for her village welfare activities in H.D. Kote. Hilda Baker has willed her 8 acres of land in H.D. Kote to the CSI. Part of the donated land is being used for community services, as per Sister Hilda Baker's wishes." As Sister Hilda, who was conscious and communicative till her last breath, handed over her silver chain with a Cross to Dr. Stephen and her pneumonia-affected lungs finally collapsed. As per the norm, the chain with the Cross was returned to the coffin, after Hilda's demise.

Sister Hilda Baker's Jimmy doll and the bicycle which she had shipped from England have found a place in Jaganmohan Palace Museum in Mysore. Her domestic help Lalitha and her caretaker Allen Crammer probably had to learn to live with the pleasant memories of the noble woman who always believed that "Devotion to Duty is not a Sacrifice, it is a Justification of your Existence in this Life."

[Source: The interviews which this writer had conducted in the year 2000, after Hilda's demise, as part of the research to profile the noble soul for a publication. Inputs from Dr. Stephen, Allen Crammer and Pothan (all late) and Sister Sujatha, presently the Vice-President of CSI - Karnataka Southern Diocese].

GSS Yogic Foundation's D. Srihari said that city was making all preparations to enter the Guinness record by inviting 1.50 lakh people to perform yoga at Race Course this year. To achieve this, the YFM has sought the help of all yoga training schools, District Administration and Suttur Seer Sri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji who will lead the International Yoga Day in Mysuru this year.

YFM has also deputed more than 1,100 yoga trainers to visit the every house, private firms, and educational institutions to provide wide publicity. He said, multi-religious and spiritual leaders will be invited and the city will drive home the message of harmony and peace, he added.

Srihari also remembered the contributions of the then Deputy Commissioner of Mysuru D. Randeep for the city to enter the world record in 2017.

This year's event will be the biggest public gathering at one place after the Dasara procession. Efforts are on to invite Prime Minister Narendra Modi to take part, he added.

He also said that YFM has also planned to celebrate World Environment Day which will be celebrated on June 5 by planting 50,000 saplings. SPYSS Yoga Samsthe Chief Nagabhushan, Corporator Ramesh Kumar, District National Service Scheme (NSS) Coordinator Chandrashekhar and others were present.

Mysuru, May 12 (PM&US)- To exhibit and create awareness among people on biodiversity richness of lakes, Wild Mysuru, had organised a photography exhibition with the theme Life in Kukkarahalli Kere this morning at Kukkarahalli Lake.

Over 180 photographs of biodiversity at the Lake clicked by 49 nature enthusiasts and Wild Mysuru were on display at the expo which was open to the public from 7 am to 10 am and again from 4 pm to 6 pm.

Inaugurating the expo by planting a sapling, University of Mysore (UoM) Registrar Dr. Lingaraj Gandhi observed that Kukkarahalli Lake was a pride of UoM. He recalled that Kukkarahalli Lake was an inspiring location for many poets including Kuvempu. The Lake also is a source of enthusiasm for environmentalists, he added.

The Registrar showed his concern for conserving the ecology of the Lake by agreeing to plant trees wherever possible. He was concerned about the noise created by public and also number of footfalls in the lake premises. Seeing a group of people, who were making loud noise at the Lake premises, Prof. Gandhi said that the noise might drive away birds that roost at the Lake.

He advised visitors at the expo not to just look at the photos but study the ecosystem in depth and help conserve the iconic water body.

Speaking to SOM, MUDA Asst. Executive Engineer T.K. Ravi said that MUDA has paid Rs. 2.4 crore to Karnataka Urban Water Supply and Drainage Board for it to take up water supply works. Tender will be called soon to supply water.

Compared to other layouts in city and its surroundings, R.T. Nagar has seen a fast growth due to its well-planned nature. In Vijayanagar 4th Stage, 12,000 sites have been formed in a 1,000-acre land in 1994 and only 40 percent of the area is occupied and 60 percent vacant.

Over 822 sites were distributed in Lalithadrinagar North and 1,667 sites in Lalithadrinagar South in an area of 267 acres. This layout was formed in 1998 and 90 percent of the sites are vacant now.

R.T. Nagar is surrounded by Kergalli, Dattagalli and has easy access to Ring Road. Other Layouts in the vicinity are Mysuru Journalists Association Layout, Mysore University Layout, Government Employees Housing Cooperative Society Layout, and Forest Department Employees Layout. All these layouts are yet to be populated.

Spiritual and Health benefits of Ramadan fasting

By Dr. Asna Urooj
Chairperson, Department of Studies in Food Science and Nutrition, University of Mysore

Healthy adult Muslims all over the world, observe fasting during Ramadan, the ninth month in the Islamic calendar. They do so not to lose weight or any medical benefit but as it is ordained in Quran which says, "O you who believe! Fasting is prescribed to you, as it was prescribed for those before you (that is, Jews, and Christians) so that you may (learn) self-restraint." (2:183)

Who are exempt from fasting?

According to Islamic laws, children below the age of 12, patients, travellers, and women who are menstruating or nursing a baby are exempt.

Fasting involves a total abstinence from food and fluid consumption from dawn to dusk and also stay away from sex, smoking or misconduct. Special prayers 'Tarawih' are offered at night. It signifies sacrifice, giving, piousness, self-training and empathy with the impoverished. Indeed, the essence is spiritual nonetheless; the holy month offers several benefits for both mind and the body. [The Holy Month of Ramadan (Ramzan) commenced on May 7 (Tuesday) and fasting also began the same day]

During the ongoing month of Ramadan, eating patterns change. Individuals consume two relatively large meals, one before the dawn (Sehri) and the other right after the sunset (Iftar). The alteration in circadian rhythm is also of significance. People are more active after sunset and in the night and they may also become sleep-deprived.

In a narration of Abu Nuaim, Prophet Mohammad (PBUH) said, "soomo wa tsahhoo", which can be translated to mean, "Fast and be healthy."

Even science has proven that Ramadan is a month full of blessings. The International Congress on "Health and Ramadan" held in Casablanca in 1994, covered 50 studies on medical ethics of Ramadan and noted various improvements in the health conditions of those who fast. The conclusions of these presentations were that Ramadan fasting had beneficial effects on health especially on blood glucose, blood pressure, lipid profile and weight. No serious adverse effects were noted.

If any negative effects were seen at all, it was in those who over-indulge in food at Iftar or do not sleep well at night. One should be aware fasting will be dangerous to your health such as in Type 1 Diabetics, you are not recommended to fast as your medical condition may worsen. For those who can fast, read on to learn about some of the incredible health benefits of fasting on our overall well-being. The impact of fasting on health is the most commonly researched religious fasting worldwide.

What does Science say?

Fighting cancer: The duration of fasting ranges from 8 hours to 14 hours around the world and this starvation is ideal for the autophagy process known as 'Self Eating' in Greek. Japanese Nobel Peace Prize winner scientist, Yoshinori Ohsumi has suggested that fasting during Ramadan can make your body fight cancer. He emphasises that the ideal time for autophagy to fight cancer cells is 8-14 hours of starvation for approx 25-28 days annually. It is amazing that even in the state of worship the Almighty protects us from deadly cancer and many others which are yet to be discovered.

Body weight and composition: Changes in eating habits may lead to a reduction in frequency of food and beverage intake which in turn lead to a decline in energy intake, loss of body weight and a state of dehydration. The latter is reflected in body weight reduction and changes in biochemical parameters related to body water status. The reduction of body weight has been reported but the connection between weight loss and body fat reduction is not investigated.

Fasting and GI system: Healthy individuals might experience minor Gastrointestinal (GI) symptoms but no serious complications have been reported. However, those suffering from digestive disorders including peptic ulcer must seek medical advice as Ramadan fasting seems to increase peptic ulcer complications (peptic ulcer perforation and bleeding) and have a deteriorating effect on patients with chronic peptic ulcer diseases on drug therapy.

Blood lipid profile: Studies report reductions in bad "LDL" cholesterol, triglyceride and increases in good "HDL" levels thereby protecting your heart from cardiovascular disease.

Diabetes: Fasting lowers blood glucose and insulin level, causing breakdown of glycogen from liver to provide glucose for energy need and breakdown of fat from adipose tissue to provide for energy needs. Diabetes controlled by diet alone can fast and hopefully with weight reduction, their diabetes may even be improved. Diabetics who are on oral hypoglycaemic drugs along with the diet must be cautious. They should consult their physician regarding the drug time and dosage and preferably take the drug with Iftar in the evening. Diabetics on insulin should fast under close medical supervision and make suitable changes in the insulin dose.

One must consult a nutritionist to select the right food ingredients particularly sources of carbohydrates, proteins and fats to provide the 'lente' effect (sustained release of nutrients).

They must avoid or minimise desserts/ sweet snacks common in Ramadan and monitor their blood sugar before breaking fast and after ending their fast. If blood sugar is below 70mg/dl, one may feel dizzy, trembling, palpitations, sweaty and feel tired/ fatigued. If these symptoms are present they may have to break the fast and take fruit juice/ glucose drink/ tender coconut water and after 10-15 minutes have a snack/ small meal. Never ignore the warnings of hypoglycaemia.

Hypertension: Fasting during Ramadan results in lowering of blood pressure in hypertensive subjects with controlled and mild hypertension with prompt medication.

Pregnancy: Fasting in well-nourished pregnant woman has no adverse effect on the offspring. However, the Prophet (PBUH) said pregnant and nursing women need not fast as the Almighty Allah doesn't want even a small foetus, to suffer.

In my own opinion, during the first and third trimester, women should not fast. If in the second trimester (4-6 months) of pregnancy, women may fast provided that (1) Her own health is good, and (2) It is done with the permission of her obstetrician and under close supervision. The possible damage to the foetus may not be from malnutrition provided the Iftar and Sehri are adequate, but from dehydration, from prolonged (10-14-hour) abstinence from water.

Scientific studies reveal Ramadan fasting has health protective effects. However people with diabetes, hypertension, CVD and chronic diseases must consult their physician and dietician to fast.

Other benefits

Addictions can come in all shapes and forms and Ramadan provides an excellent opportunity to ditch them. Because Ramadan teaches self-restraint for most of the day, we may realise that forgoing our addiction all together may not be as hard as we think.

Fasting provides tranquillity of the heart and mind. By practicing generosity, charity (Zakat), gathering around the iftar table, praying and self-control by practicing good manners.

Healthy tips

- Whole grain cereals (wheat, rice, ragi), low-fat milk, lean meat, fish (steamed), egg white, dal, legumes, peas, Khichdi
- Small servings of fresh fruits such as watermelon, papaya, orange, musambi, grapes, pineapple and vegetable salads
- Curds with a pinch of Elaichi powder (cardamom) taken after dawn meal will prevent from feeling thirsty
- Avoid consuming high-fat foods, bakery products and deep-fried foods like samosa, pakodas, bajji etc. Eat in moderate amount
- Avoid overeating in Sehri as it may cause indigestion and postprandial hyperglycemias. Eat just before sunrise and not at midnight
- Avoid consuming carbonated beverages like sodas and colas after breaking fast

Fasting has different impacts on different individuals. These variations highly depend on daily nutritional habits and the season that Ramadan occurs. However, there is no fear possibility of malnutrition or inadequate calorie intake since there is no restriction on the type or amount of food intake during Iftaar or Sehri.

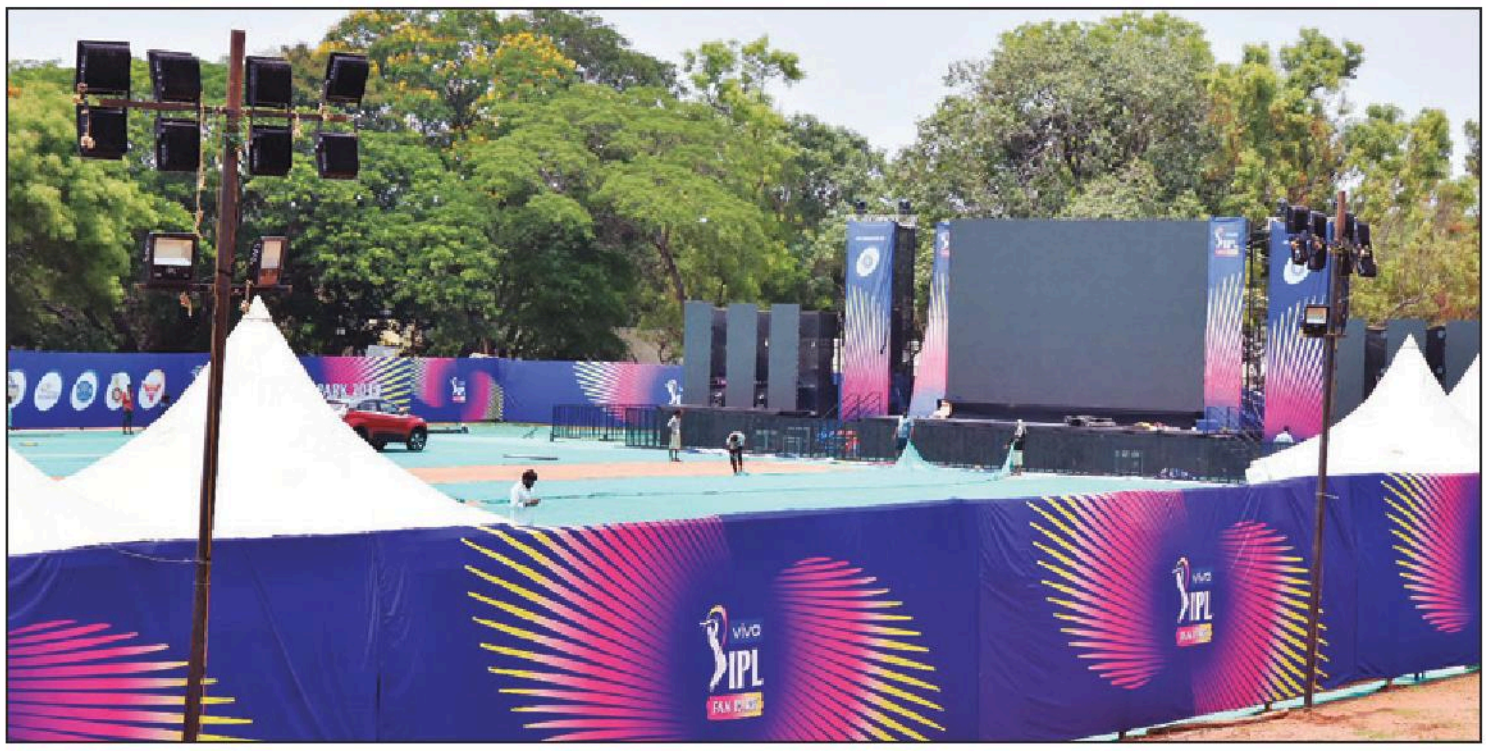
Fan Park at SJCE campus to screen CSK Vs MI title clash



The giant screen installed at Vivo IPL Fan Park set up in SJCE campus to telecast IPL-2019 final live this evening.

Mysuru, May 12- In order to popularise the game of cricket in all parts of the country, the BCCI's VIVO IPL Fan Park will be taking place in Mysuru, at the JSS University of Science & Technology, SJCE campus, Mysuru, today (May 12), when Mumbai Indians' (MI) clash with Chennai Super Kings (CSK) in the final.

The match will be screened live in the Fan Park at the campus from 7.30 pm. The entry will be free and the Fan Park gates will open at 6 pm. This is the fourth time, Mysuru is hosting the Fan park during VIVO IPL.

Speaking to the press last evening at the press conference, Irfan Datar, representative of the BCCI, said that the Fan park will have a seating capacity of nearly 8,000 and all the basic facilities for the spectators to watch the game comfortably will be provided.

"The safety and security of the spectators at the venue will be ensured, and there will be a food court, special area for senior citizens and kids. The replica of the IPL Trophy will be displayed in the Fan Park and fun activity counters will also there, which will help in improving the spectator participation," added.

He said that this year, IPL Fan Park has covered 21 States and 36 cities since the start of the Tournament, and for the final, have arrived in Mysuru.

CSK Vs MI

CSK will take on MI in what promises to be a blockbuster final of this 12th edition of the IPL. The clash at the Rajiv Gandhi International Stadium in Hyderabad tonight will pit the two most successful teams in the history of the T20 Tournament against each other.

It can't be disputed that Mumbai go into the final as the favourites, having beaten Chennai as many as three times earlier in the Tournament, including in the Qualifier 1 at Chepauk on Tuesday.

However, statistics count for little going into the title fight with both teams being in this situation multiple times in the past.

Rohit Sharma-led MI can certainly take confidence out of the fact that they have won three out of the four finals they have been a part of, including the two against Chennai in 2013 and 2015.

For defending champions CSK, who have entered their eighth final in ten attempts, it has been another remarkable season after last year when they made a triumphant return having served a two-year suspension.

'Nikhil Ellidiyappa...! introduced me to the whole world'

Mandya Lok Sabha JD(S)-Congress coalition candidate Nikhil Kumaraswamy addressing party workers at MLA Narayangowda's residence in Basaveshwaranagar in K.R. Pet yesterday.

K.R. Pet, May 12- The moment his candidature was announced for the Mandya Lok Sabha seat, 'Nikhil Ellidiyappa' trolls that hit the social media and TV studios, literally introduced his name to people all over the world. Besides, he also became a household name in Mandya constituency, said Mandya Lok Sabha JD(S)-Congress coalition candidate Nikhil Kumaraswamy.

He was addressing the JD(S) party workers meeting, in the light of the K.R. Pet Town Municipal Council (TMC) elections, at MLA Narayangowda's residence in Basaveshawaranagar in the town on Friday. He recalled that during the music album release of his film 'Jaguar,' his father H.D. Kumaraswamy had called out 'Nikhil Ellidiyappa,' which his rivals had trolled trying to put him on the back foot. However, that troll helped introduce him to his voters. As a result there is a lot of demand for the title 'Nikhil Ellidiyappa' in the Kannada film industry, he said.

He had never imagined that he would be nominated for the Mandya LS constituency. Only due to the pressure from all the eight MLAs, three Ministers and three MLCs in the district that he was forced to contest. It is not correct as a few people say that he was Deve Gowda family's candidate, he added.

He learnt fully about the district during his 45 days' campaigning and it looked like he had gained a political experience of about 20 years. He was confident of becoming an MP and after May 23, he would try to organise Udyog Mela for all the unemployed in the district and get jobs in reputed companies, he said.

He would dedicate his life to solve the problems of farmers and he would never betray the trust and the confidence reposed on him by the district's voters and party workers. After the elections, he would not go anywhere, he did not need time to relax, he said.

He said that he was discussing with the officials and education experts about opening smart schools and colleges in the district and was not wasting his time, said Nikhil.

In the coming TMC elections, the party workers should work hard to see that all the 23 seats are won by JD(S) candidates. Those who have not got tickets must not be disheartened. In the coming days, there could be more opportunities for them and some of them would get good positions, he said.

District Minister C.S. Puttaraju said that the Chief Minister had sanctioned Rs.8,600 crore for the development of the district. But nothing was discussed about it during the elections and even the media did not cooperate.

Keeping in mind the all-round development of the district, Nikhil was nominated as the candidate. Besides, just like his father H.D. Kumaraswamy and grandfather H.D. Deve Gowda, he had great concern to serve the people. Nikhil's presence is inevitable to take the party forward in the coming days, said Puttaraju.

Great respect for Siddharamaiah: There was no question of taking the losing candidates into confidence and working with them. He would work only with the winning candidates, is what he had said to the media in Bengaluru but never commented on Siddharamaiah. "A few media channels have twisted my statement. I have great respect for Siddharamaiah," clarified Puttaraju.

'I am hero for Nikhil Ellidiyappa movie, Puttarajanna producer'

I am the hero for the film 'Nikhil Ellidiyappa' and Puttarajanna is the producer," said Nikhil Kumaraswamy.

Addressing the JD(S) workers, he said that Nikhil Ellidiyappa dialogue was not only famous in the entire State but also in America. "There is a lot of demand for this title. Hence, I have requested the Film Board not to allot this title to anyone," he said and added, in a lighter vein but indirectly taunting his opponents, that Minister C.S. Puttaraju will be the producer for the film he (Nikhil) was the hero.

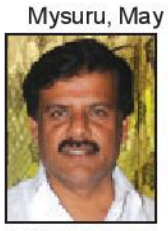
Former Mayor bats for free education till SSLC



Sandesh Swamy

Mysuru, May 12 (DM)- Former Mayor S. Satish (Sandesh Swamy) has demanded free education for all till SSLC, in private and aided educational institutions.

In a press release, Sandesh Swamy said that this year's PUC and SSLC results point to the fact that Government Schools, Kannada Medium Schools and children from rural areas have fared better compared to previous years, while at the same time the result in urban Private Schools have dipped. "This shows that rural and poor students studying in Government Schools are no inferior compared to their urban counterparts. The only thing is that they should get free education to achieve big in life. With donation menace rampant in private educational institutions, the parents of poor children cannot afford to send their children to prestigious institutions, which charge very high fees," he added.

In an effort to end discrimination and disparity in education, the Government should provide free education for all up to SSLC (10th standard) in Government, aided and unaided private educational institutions, which will ensure equal education for everyone, like in the USA and other western countries, the release said.

Mysuru, May 12 (MK&KS)- Following chain-snatching incidents in city, Corporator Pramila Bharat and Lakshmipuram Police conducted an awareness programme on chain-snatching to the public at the Freedom Fighters' Park in Subbarayanakere in city recently.

Handbills with messages such as not to go alone when wearing gold jewellery, to cover the neck with veil while walking, to be careful while carrying cash and other valuables in vanity bags etc., were distributed during the awareness programme.

He asked the public to stay away from strangers who behave as if they known them, besides asking them to note down the registration number of the vehicle of the person who is found moving in suspicious manner and inform the same by calling the phone number mentioned in the handbill.

Police Constables S.M. Mahesh, Mallikarjunaswamy, Kumar and others were present.

‘Balangochi’ summer camp concludes on a colourful note

Mysuru, May 12 (US&MK)- “Theatre can remove ego in people,” opined humorist Prof. M. Krishnegowda.

He was speaking at the valedictory of Balangochi, a summer camp for children organised by Adamya Rangashale at Vivekananda PU College in Jayalakshmipuram here last evening.

Quoting the example of actor late Shankar Nag, Krishnegowda said that all artistes in theatre are treated equal. He opined that children should be allowed to play and enjoy and added that before fear sets in, children should be allowed to learn various skills. He advised parents not to discriminate children and suggested that kids should be nurtured to develop helping behaviour.

Speaking on the occasion, Janachetana Trust President Prasanna Gowda asked parents to identify talents in their children and nurture them instead of pressurising for academic excellence.

The participating children dressed in attractive costumes rendered devotional and theatre songs. They also presented a tribal dance and staged three plays Marada Tayi, Jilebi Sanchara and Hakki Haadu.

Journalist C.K. Mahendra, Rangashale Founder Chandru Mandya and others were present.

US FDA warns of faulty pacemaker batteries

New Delhi, May 12- The US Food and Drug Administration (FDA) has raised an alarm about premature battery depletion in certain Medtronic pacemaker models, which could lead to devices losing power quickly and triggering a medical emergency.

The models affected by the battery issue include Azure, Astra, Percepta, Serena and Solara, according to the US regulator. The FDA, in its safety communication, alerted healthcare providers and patients about the batteries in certain Medtronic implantable pacemakers or cardiac resynchronization therapy pacemakers (CRT-Ps), which can drain faster than expected, without any warning.

CRT-Ps are battery-powered devices that provide pacing for slow heart rhythms and heart failure. Astra, Solara and Serena models are available in India.

If a capacitor–one of the electronic components of these devices–is cracked it may lose functionality and create an electric short, which can cause rapid battery depletion. “If the battery runs out, the device will be unable to deliver life-saving pacing, which could lead to serious injury or death,” said the FDA late on Tuesday.

The move follows three events, wherein clinicians were unable to communicate with the device due to battery depletion, which resulted in loss of pacemaker function. “One of the cases resulted in the death of a pacemaker-dependent patient,” the FDA added.

“While the number of adverse event reports associated with today's safety communication is small and we expect very low rates of early battery depletion with this device, it's important that patients and healthcare professionals pay close attention to devise performance given the pacemaker's important, life-saving functions and discuss appropriate steps to reduce any potential safety risks to an individual patient,” said William Maisel, MD, M.P.H, Director of the Office of Product Evaluation and Quality and Chief Medical Officer in the FDA's Center for Devices and Radiological Health, in a statement.

While the devices are designed to last between 7.5-10 years before their battery is required to be replaced, all three events occurred within a year of the device being implanted (average of 7 months).

Even as the FDA doesn't recommend preventive removal and replacement of affected devices, it has cautioned the patients and professionals to carefully monitor battery status using home monitoring systems. Medtronic said their devices continue to perform well within reliability projections.

“We expect few additional events to occur. In consultation with our Independent Physician Quality Panel, we do not recommend device replacement, and advise physicians to continue normal patient follow-up in accordance with standard practice and to continue with remote monitoring,” Medtronic said.

WORD OF THE DAY

Hypermnesia

Pronunciation: hye-perm-NEE-zhee-uh

Meaning: Abnormally vivid or complete memory or recall of the past.

Origin: Perhaps the most famous individual to exhibit hypermnesia was a Russian man known as "S," whose amazing photographic memory was studied for 30 years by a psychologist in the early part of the 20th century. Hypermnesia sometimes refers to cases like that of "S," but it can also refer to specific instances of heightened memory (such as those brought on by trauma or hypnosis) experienced by people whose memory abilities are unremarkable under ordinary circumstances. The word hypermnesia, which has been with us since about the mid-19th century, was created in New Latin as the combination of hyper- (meaning "beyond" or "super") and -mnesia (patterned after amnesia). It ultimately derives from the Greek word mnasthai, meaning "to remember."

Example: Imagine being able to recall anything you've ever dreamt, tasted or read. That's the reality for a woman with a rare condition which means she can remember virtually every single detail of her life — even being able to recite all the Harry Potter books word-for-word. Rebecca Sharrock is one of just 80 people worldwide who have been identified as having ... hypermnesia." — Erin Cardiff, The Mirror, 6 Oct. 2015

THE ODD WORD

Humdudgeon

An imaginary illness

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Win hands down

Meaning: Win easily, with little effort.

Origin: Many phrases have originated as jargon in the world of sport, including several from boxing. The memory of Muhammad Ali dancing round the ring with his hands at his side and going on to win the bout might encourage us to think that that is the origin of this one. Not quite, although it does come from sport - horse racing. Jockeys need to keep a tight rein in order to encourage their horse to run. Anyone who is so far ahead that he can afford to slacken off and still win he can drop his hands and loosen the reins - hence winning 'hands down'. This is recorded from the mid 19th century; for example, 'Pips' Lyrics & Lays, 1867: "There were good horses in those days, as he can well recall, But Barker upon Elepoo, hands down, shot by them all."

It began to be used in a figurative sense, to denote an easy win in other contexts, from the early 20th century.
